Dear Parents, Staff and Students

Welcome back!!!

The holidays are a wonderful time to relax, re-charge, re-energise, reflect on past achievements and prepare for the challenges that lie ahead. Sadly, many of our parents would have had little time off during the school vacation, but I do hope that you all managed to find some family time together. I hope that regardless of where you have been, where you have travelled, or the places you have visited that you had a wonderful time, and you have returned safe and well.

This being said, I think it is important that we reflect on the tragedies of the past few weeks. Firstly the people missing from flight MH-370 and, more recently, the people killed in the Korean ferry disaster. I cannot imagine the pain being experienced by their families at the loss of their loved ones in such tragedies. I hope that as a community we will hold all people affected by these tragedies in our thoughts and prayers.

It is a reminder, however, of the fragility and preciousness of life. If only we could all live to enjoy life at every moment. Certainly such tragedies put into perspective the complaints, issues and stresses we hear about in conversation with our friends, families and work colleagues. Unfortunately, these same stresses and strains of everyday living all too often impinge upon our happiness and, ultimately, our well-being.

One website called The Pursuit of Happiness discusses the notion of happiness and well-being and helps to translate the research into a language we can all understand. In their web site, they identify the following 7 Habits of Happy People:

1. Relationships (Express your heart): Happy people tend to have one or more close friendships;
2. Caring (Cultivate kindness): People, who care for others, or those who volunteer on a consistent basis, tend to be happier;
3. Exercise (Keep moving): Regular exercise is associated with mental well-being;
4. Flow (Find your flow): If we are deeply involved in trying to reach a goal, or an activity that is challenging but well suited to our skills, we experience a joyful state called "flow." Happier people tend to have found their flow;
5. Spiritual Engagement and Meaning: Studies have articulated a close link between religious and spiritual engagement (practice) and happiness;
6. Strengths and Virtues (discover your strength): Studies have indicated that people who find their particular strengths, and use them for a purpose greater than themselves, are happier;
7. Positive Mindset - Optimism, Mindfulness and Gratitude: According to studies conducted by Martin Seligman, grateful people have been shown to have greater positive emotion, a greater sense of belonging, and lower incidence of depression and stress.

Principal's Report (Cont'd)

As we all return to the working weeks and the reality of challenges in our individual lives, we owe it to ourselves, and those around us, to do our best to improve our happiness mindset and, subsequently, our well-being. I encourage you to think about these important elements of our lives and hope that you will discuss this with your child. The web address for The Pursuit of Happiness is www.pursuit-of-happiness.org/history-of-happiness. This is only one of many, but certainly worth a look.

How often do we hear people complain? Hear people speak in frustration? Hear people sound so unhappy? Answer – simply too often. Maybe we could all gain from looking at our happiness and trying to positively improve our own well-being, and reflect on how fortunate we are to live in such a wonderful country, to have our health and be loved by others.

I wish you a wonderful term ahead, and trust that as a community we can be thankful for our lives, for the country we live in, for the people we know and love, for the relationships we have, and for the opportunity we have as members of the College community. Together, may we strive to assist in each other's happiness and well-being.

Brian Grimes – Principal

Senior School News

The Parent-Teacher interviews are a fine way to commence Term 2. It provides an opportunity for students to reflect on their efforts in Term 1, and with their parents' and teachers' support, to review their study plans and goals for the remainder of the year. I thoroughly enjoyed the chance to chat with so many parents on the two nights, and the smiling faces of students indicated that their hard work in Term 1 had paid off. Well done to all who received positive feedback, and to those who have areas to work on, think of this as an opportunity to get things right going forward.

The College has reviewed its uniform policy and has made some slight changes but, more importantly, has tried to clarify any grey areas of misunderstanding. All students will be sent a copy of the updated expectations. One difference is that students will now wear their sports uniform to and from school on Fridays that are APS sports days. It has been a challenge for students to wear their formal uniform to school and then change for sport at lunch, prior to going to sport. Over 700 students all trying to access change rooms during the break is logistically difficult. Students will now wear their APS sports shirt to and from school on that day. This will greatly reduce the number of students that need to change, but still retain the positive dress standard that A.B. Paterson College is renowned for.

The vast majority of our students dress impeccably, are punctual and prepared for class, and meet all the expectations we have of them as a part of our College community. When, on occasions, they slip up, they are quick to realise the error they have made and ensure they get it right in future. Some students are presenting, however, as repeatedly not meeting our expectations. Whilst forgetting equipment in one class is forgivable, if this is happening across multiple classes, and on multiple occasions, this becomes a situation where a bad habit is forming that will impact on them in other ways. For those students continually not meeting our expectations, we need to find other ways to support them to get things right. I have asked staff to track down these repeat infringers and to notify tutors and Heads of House, so we do not allow the bad habit to become so ingrained it becomes a major issue. Proactive communication between the College and home will hopefully help students to replace bad habits with good habits.

A number of students are arriving at the College very early and, at times, before teaching staff are in a position to supervise them. The College has addressed this issue by employing staff to supervise students in designated areas around the school. In the Senior School, students will be supervised in the CLC, or in the Chisholm courtyard area. We ask that all students arriving in the College prior to 8:00am, and not involved in a before school programme, report to one of these two areas, so we can actively supervise them.

I wish all a wonderful start to the term.

Gary Bruce – Head of Senior School

Celebrating Old Collegians Official Launch

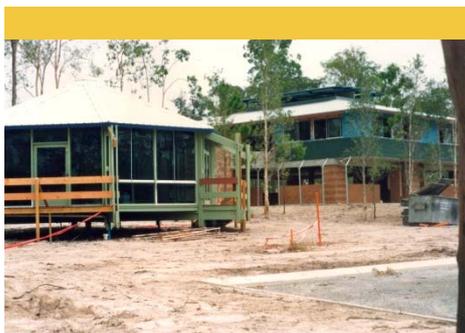

How many of you remember the original administration building of the College, commonly referred to as 'The Rotunda'?

This photograph shows the construction of 'The Rotunda' along with 'School House', now known as 'Cunnington House', in late 1990, in preparation for the opening of the College in January 1991.

We invite our past students to attend our official launch of Old Collegians: an afternoon of team sports and the official launch on Saturday, 17 May 2014, at the College. We are hoping to re-connect with as many of our past students as possible, so ask any past students who read this notice to let their classmates know about Old Collegians.

For team sports organisation and catering purposes, please register your interest in attending our launch and playing a team game (1pm-3pm) and/or joining us for drinks and savouries (4pm-6pm) by emailing Angela Hirsch at oldcollegians@abpat.qld.edu.au. RSVP is Friday, 2 May 2014.

Health and Physical Education Faculty

Dear Families,

"I believe the quality of our teaching is one of the most important things in determining the quality of learning students experience in HPE. I also believe that the quality of the relationships that we as adults have with one another has a profound effect on the quality of relationships students experience in our classrooms. I want every student to experience quality teaching in every classroom and be surrounded and supported by quality relationships with adults and peers. As a faculty, this is one of our main priorities and, as such, an important goal for us as teachers to strive towards."

Collaborative Learning in the Collaborative Learning Centre (CLC)

This week, several of our Year 8 classes, under the direct instruction of their teachers Ms Birks and Mr Stoppel, were involved in a collaborative learning environment which saw students engaging with one another in the CLC. The purpose of this was to provide students with a rich environment to revise and assess their understanding of their current TFU 'Ouch that's got to hurt!' looking at First Aid Scenarios. The students were also discussing how best to treat each patient, by transferring their understanding from what they had previously learnt, and used this in new and unfamiliar situations. This required the students to be challenged in Higher Order Thinking Skills by analysing, evaluating and proposing new strategies to effectively treat the unknown and unfamiliar injuries of their patients. The collaboration between the classes further proved that working with others provides fruitful discussions and opportunities for debriefing.

Mr Stoppel further summarised the students' responses and placed these on to the glass writing walls for all the students to see. This again highlights the wonderful facility that the College has for the students and the opportunities for collaboration between classes in the CLC. I would like to congratulate both staff members for immersing the classes in a collaborative, rich and supportive environment.

Hayley achieved 1st place in Classical Improvisation, 2nd place in Slow Modern, 2nd place in Jazz, 3rd place in Classical, 3rd place in Song and Tap and Highly Commended in Demi Character.
